SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL DECLARATION OF CRYSTAL SANCHEZ

I, Crystal Sanchez, hereby swear and affirm that the following is a true statement:

1. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a true and correct copy of a "NOTICE TO REMOVE PERSONAL PROPERTY AND REMOVE PERSONAL PROPERTY" posted by the County of Sacramento Department of Regional Parks, Park Ranger Unit which I received on August 8, 2023 but was not able to provide until today to Sacramento Homeless Union Attorney Anthony Prince. As I previously stated in my prior Supplemental Declaration, I have personally observed Sacramento County Park Rangers

1 on many occasions both last year in the 2022 heat wave and over the last two weeks
2 clearing homeless encampments from shady areas of Regional Parks.

3 2. Attached hereto as Exhibit B is a true and correct copy of the 7-day Forecast that appears
4 in today's edition of the Sacramento Bee showing that tomorrow's high will be 94
5 degrees Fahrenheit which will increase through to Tuesday, August 15, 2023 when the 6 temperature will rise to triple digits through Thursday, August. 17.

7
8 3. Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a true and correct copy of an extended forecast provided
9 by the "Time and Date" weather service showing that between August 13 and August 25
10 there will be nine (9) days of temperatures above 90 degrees F.

11 4. Attached hereto as Exhibit D is a true and correct copy of the "AccuWeather" extended
12 forecast for Sacramento which shows that between August 27, 2023 and September 30, 13 2023 there are 25 days forecast to be at 90 degrees F. or greater.

14 I hereby swear and affirm under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States and 15 the State of California that the foregoing is a true statement made on personal knowledge and 16 otherwise on information and belief.

$40 billion request to Congress includes Ukraine, US disaster aid

BY LISA MASCARO
AND COLLEEN LONG
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

The Biden administration on Thursday asked Congress to provide more than $13 billion in emergency defense aid to Ukraine and an additional $8 billion for humanitarian support.

While the last such request from the White House for Ukraine funding was easily approved in 2022, there's a different dynamic this time. A political divide on the issue has grown, with the Republican-led House $12 billion to replenish the U.S. federal disaster funds at home after a deadly climate season of heat and storms, and funds to bolster the enforcement at the Southern border with Mexico, including money to curb the flow of deadly fentanyl.

All told, it's a $40 billion package. While the last such request from the White House for Ukraine funding was easily approved in 2022, there's a different dynamic this time. A political divide on the issue has grown, with the Republican-led House facing enormous pressure to demonstrate support for the party's leader, Donald Trump, who has been very skeptical of the war. And American support for the effort has been slowly softening.

White House budget director Shalanda Young, in a letter to House Speaker Kevin McCarthy, urged swift action to follow through on the U.S. "commitment to the Ukrainian peoples' defense of their homeland and to democracy around the world" as well as other needs.

Supreme Court blocks OxyContin maker's bankruptcy deal

BY MARK SHERMAN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

The Supreme Court on Thursday blocked a nationwide settlement with OxyContin maker Purdue Pharma that would shield members of the Sackler family who own the company from civil lawsuits over the toll of opioids.

The justices agreed to a request from the Biden administration to put the brakes on an agreement reached last year with state and local governments. In addition, the high court will hear arguments before the end of the year over whether the settlement can proceed.

The deal would allow the company to emerge from bankruptcy as a different entity, with its profits used to fight the opioid epidemic. Members of the Sackler family would contribute up to $6 billion.

But a key component of the agreement would shield family members, who are not seeking bankruptcy protection as individuals, from lawsuits. The U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee, represented by the Justice Department, opposes releasing the Sackler family from legal liability.

The justices directed the parties to address whether bankruptcy law authorizes a blanket shield from lawsuits filed by all opioid victims.

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals had allowed the reorganization plan to proceed.

Lawyers for Purdue and other parties to the agreement had urged the justices to stay out of the case. "This is a business case, not a public policy case," they argued, if granted, would harm victims and needlessly delay the distribution of billions of dollars to abate the opioid crisis," Purdue's lawyers wrote.

Ed Seiger, a lawyer representing individual victims of the opioid crisis who would be in line for a piece of the settlement, said it was a disappointment that they would have to wait longer for any compensation but also praised the court for agreeing to hear the case so soon. "They clearly see the urgency of the matter," he said.

Another group of mostly parents of people who died from opioid overdoses has called for the settlement not to be accepted.

Opioids have been linked to more than 70,000 fatal overdoses annually in the U.S. in recent years. Most of those are from fentanyl and other synthetic drugs. But the crisis widened in the early 2000s as OxyContin and other powerful prescription painkillers became prevalent.

Waltine "Walt" Nauta walks up the steps of the Alto Lee Adams Sr. U.S. Courthouse in Fort Pierce, Florida, on Thursday to enter his plea to new charges added July 27 to an indictment in the classified documents case against former President Donald Trump.

Trump, Nauta enter not guilty pleas in documents case

BY SHAYNA JACOBS
AND PERRY STEIN
The Washington Post

FORT PIERCE, FLA.

Former President Donald Trump and one of his two co-defendants on Thursday pleaded not guilty in federal court to multiple charges alleging that Trump kept classified documents at his Florida property and, with the help of aides, tried to hide some of the material from government officials seeking to get them back.

Trump entered his plea through his attorneys and was not present at the hearing. Federal prosecutors had initially accused him of committing 37 crimes in an indictment filed in June and he pleaded not guilty. Prosecutors added three additional charges in a July superseding indictment. Trump pleaded not guilty to those charges through his attorney on Thursday.

Waltine "Walt" Nauta, Trump's base case, stayed the Thursday court hearing and also pleaded not guilty. He faced six charges in the initial indictment alongside Trump and was charged with two additional crimes in the superseding indictment.

The third defendant, Carlos De Oliveira, property manager at Trump's Mar-a-Lago property in Florida, was charged for the first time in the superseding indictment. He was expected to enter his plea to four counts Thursday for his alleged role in a scheme with Trump and Nauta to try to delete security footage that revealed Mar-a-Lago workers moving boxes of government materials that federal officials had already demanded be returned.

De Oliveira was not arraigned because a Florida-based attorney had not yet notified the court that they are representing De Oliveira — a requirement for arraignments in South Florida federal courts. This was the second time De Oliveira showed up to court but could not be arraigned. He made an initial court appearance in a South Florida courthouse last week but was unable to enter his plea because he did not have a lawyer accredited to practice in Florida.

Federal judges in Florida have prohibited the three defendants from speaking to witnesses about the facts of the investigation as conditions of their release while they await trial.

Led by special counsel Jack Smith, federal prosecutors have accused Trump of 32 counts of illegally retaining national defense information and deceiving investigators. The charges against Nauta and De Oliveira focus on obstruction of the investigation and lying to investigators.

U.S. District Judge Aileen M. Cannon has scheduled the trial to begin in late May.

Trump was indicted on state charges this year in New York and is scheduled to stand trial there in March. Smith's team also charged Trump this month in a separate case on his alleged efforts to overturn the results of the 2020 presidential election.

Trump is a candidate to be the 2024 Republican presidential nominee and his attorneys asked Cannon to take into account his busy campaign schedule.

The documents case will be tried under the rules of the Classified Information Procedures Act, or CIPA — a law that spells out pretrial steps that must be taken to decide what classified information will be used in court and how. Those steps could slow down the discovery process because they can result in more pretrial motions and hearings than a typical case.
